Spin-off of one of the leading European companies producing electric heaters, Hom has been established to exploit an innovative self-developed technology. Its core business is the production of a new generation of household equipment to heat and dry bathrobes, towels and clothes for B2B and B2C markets.

Common thread is the energy saving, the typological innovation and Taut design.

Hom presents his first catalog consisting of four heaters, of which one is a stool and a compact electric radiator available in four power ranges from 700W to 2000W, this one developed for room heating.
