

Semprini Roberto

Born on 24th August 1959 in Rimini (Emilia Romagna). He graduated in Architecture at Florence.

RM12 study was founded in 2000 by the architect designer Roberto Semprini in collaboration with other architects and designers. The study deals about Industrial Design, collaborating with the main italian companies of the sector. Some interior design projects have been published by major italian and foreign magazines, like AD Architectural Digest, House and Garden, Interni, Bravacasa, GAP Casa, etc...

Some design projects of Roberto Semprini are part of the permanent collection of museums like the New Museum of Design of London or the Museum of Fine Art of Montreal. From 2003 study realizes high-impact scenery and it is active in the search for new domestic and public spaces.